Worldwide Business with kathy ireland® Discusses Leadership and the Future of Turnstile Technology

Los Angeles, CA – March 12, 2020 — Worldwide Business with kathy ireland® is pleased to announce an exclusive interview with Mike Stoll, VP of Technical Sales & Marketing for Aeroturn to discuss how having the right turnstile makes a difference in providing safety and security for public and private buildings.

“Our mission is to keep people safe and secure at their facility or venue. In order to do that, you have to have the best, most secure, reliable turnstile out there. We do that with superior design and manufacturing. In school settings, we have the ability to carry a full-height piece of framed entry glass. A threat may come against our barriers, but there is no lethal velocity of anything getting through,” says Stoll.

Specializing in securing entryways with zero-maintenance turnstiles, Aeroturn offers all the traditional turnstiles. The flagship is the optical glass portal turnstile with a translating hinge. This increases throughput and allows a much higher level of safety with taller and heavier glass. The turnstiles have a 10-year average between failures, which is 100 times greater than any other company. The company also offers a 5-year zero maintenance warranty; a 10M cycle guarantee; and 20-year service life.

Aeroturn is moving toward integrating artificial intelligence into their designs for stronger, automated protection. Known for their superior protection in design, the company won the Security Today New Product of the Year for Perimeter Protection in 2018, as well as the Security Today GOVIES Platinum Award for Perimeter Protection in 2018 and 2019.
